

FORTUNE CONNECT

Dear Alum,

Your exceptional accomplishments are a continual source of pride for the entire institute, making you an indispensable pillar of our growth and development. Your enduring support over the years has held immense significance for us, and we deeply appreciate your strong affinity for your alma mater.

As we strive for academic excellence, our institution is flourishing. Our doctoral program now offers two variants - full-time and part-time, alongside our core PGDM course. Additionally, we are excited to introduce a new two-year PGDM-FM (Financial Management). We extend a warm invitation for you to revisit your alma mater, reconnect with faculty, staff, and students, and reminisce about your time on campus.

Our gratitude extends to the entire FIIB alumni community, and we take immense pride in your collective achievements.

Eagerly anticipating your return to your beloved institute.

Certificate in Financial Modelling and Valuation by EY [eLearning]

Finance professionals usually have to work with large volumes of numerical data. However, the key to successfully handling such data is the ability to organize and structure it meaningfully to render it useful to senior management for decision-making. This entails the creation of robust and dynamic financial models to facilitate accurate and efficient analysis of historical data and appropriate projections of financial performance.

We have experienced that a robust and well-structured financial model is critical to achieving correct valuation analysis, which, in turn, fuels well-informed and appropriate strategic organizational decisions. The importance of sound financial modeling skills, a deep understanding of valuation methods, and the assessment of the outputs of valuations for finance professionals should never be underestimated!
